Ken,

I will be sending something out later today with a pre-read.

-Jen

Ps Sorry to hear about the release at Gold King. It sounds very scary, but I am glad no one was hurt.

David and Jennifer:

Obviously, many R8 projects are in work-arounds due to the Animas River situation.

I spoke with DanW mid-day. He is on-scene in Durango and directly involved with EPA's response and will be unavailable for this call. However, we will proceed per Dan's recommendation as follows. WendyO is also engaged from the EPA Response Center here in Denver, but says she believes she will be able to participate.

Bill Brattin and Sherry Skipper (with ScottE for UDEQ) will discuss and address the agenda items, and Wendy Obrien will attend (or Kristen Keteles, Ph.D, an EPA toxicologist/risk-assessor and colleague of Dan and Wendy).

We are all in varying reaction/response modes, and all projects have to keep moving as best possible.

Thanks for accommodating.
